TEAM-BASED CARE: Unifying Patients and Providers

Team-based care is the antidote to fragmented health care. It brings multidisciplinary healthcare providers together, working collaboratively alongside patients and caregivers to achieve optimal outcomes and care experiences.

Coupling team-based care with information technology and advanced analytics maturity, the needs of our patient population throughout the continuum of care can then be sustainably enhanced.

At HIMSS AsiaPac17 in Singapore, expect to learn, share and discuss insights on team-based care that will benefit your patients, care team and organization both clinically and operationally.
