STOVA

April 17, 2018

8:00 am - 5:00 pm	Registration Open
8:00 am - 9:00 am	Continental Breakfast & Networking
9:00 am - 9:15 am	Welcome & Opening Remarks Moderator: Maryfran Johnson, Executive Director of CIO Programs, CIO Events and the CIO Executive Council
9:15 am - 10:45 am	The CIO as Corporate Officer: An Interactive Panel and Collaborative Exercise Andrew Cotter, Executive Vice President & Chief Information Officer, Somerset Capital Group, Ltd. Richard Entrup, Global CIO, Christie's, Inc. Carlos Garcia, Jr., Global CIO, Alvarez and Marsal Moderator: Ken Piddington, CIO & Executive Advisor, MRE Consulting, Ltd. CIOs today have tremendous potential to play more vital roles as business leaders, but where should they focus first? How do they strike the right balance between fiduciary responsibilities and innovation leadership? In this dynamic brainstorming session inspired by recent research from our CIO Executive Council, our experienced panel of IT leaders will explore some of the key competencies and attributes that can transform pure-play technology officers into corporate business leaders. In alternating segments of panel discussion, in-depth table conversations and audience feedback, everyone will have a chance to exchange ideas and contribute their thoughts on the future of the CIO as corporate officer. View Presentation
10:45 am - 11:05 am	Think Your Network is Safe? Check All of Your Endpoints. Jason Kuhn, Print Security Technical Consultant Manager, HP Inc. While you invest time, resources and millions of dollars in protecting endpoints and network perimeter, are you addressing one of the largest footprints on your network? While printers and other endpoints may not be front-of-mind as primary security threats, this infrastructure may be allowing hackers and malware to take the easy route to your network and data. Join us for this session where we'll share examples of breaches and how some of the most secure organizations are still lagging in overall security for critical endpoints like printers. We'll also share best practices on how to most-effectively secure these critical endpoints.

View Presentation

11:05 am - 11:35 am	Refreshment & Networking Break
11:35 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.	Automation, Machine Learning and the Future of Work Stuart Sackman, Corporate Vice President, Global Product and Technology, ADP What does the changing nature of work mean for the systems that companies give their employees? That question is top-of-mind for ADP's Stuart Sackman, whose combination role encompasses CIO duties plus leadership of global research and development for one of the largest human capital management solutions companies in the world. What work means and how it gets done is changing. CIOs have to be more aligned with product teams to create tighter linkages between how technology is delivered to end consumers and how it's operated across the business.In this forward-looking session, Stuart will talk about the way automation and machine learning are already reshaping the future of work. He'll also share some real-world examples from ADP's Innovation Labs.
12:15 pm - 1:30 pm	Networking Lunch with Hosted Discussion Tables

- Data Security & Visibility, hosted by Code42
- Kubernetes Decoder Ring, hosted by Heptio
- Print Security Solutions, hosted by HP Inc.
- Building A Micro-Segmentation Strategy, hosted by Illumio
- As A Service Strategies, hosted by IPM
- Jumpstart Your Cloud Data Warehousing Journey, hosted by Informatica
- Making Friends with Shadow IT, hosted by Quick Base
- Collaboration Made Simple, hosted by Tata Communications
- Data Management Strategies, hosted by Veritas Technologies

1:30 pm - 2:30 pm	Innovative Digital Leadership Workshop JP Saini, Chief Information Officer, TRC Solutions Susan Moll, Senior Manager, Program Development, CIO Executive Council Considering the pace of innovation, managing data and analytics across the end-to-end customer experience is a core responsibility for today's CIOs. In this interactive workshop experience, a CIO will share how he stays ahead of the curve in data management. He will discuss how he has been successful in transforming disparate data across the globe to one optimized source, empowering people to look for relevant and validated information. Then we'll break into groups for a challenge exercise. This workshop will challenge you to think about how traditional, linear data management does not work anymore.

2:30 pm - 2:50pm	Modernize Your Data Architecture to Drive Innovation
	John Macintyre, Group Program Manager, Microsoft
	Rik Tamm-Daniels, Senior Director, Strategic Cloud and Big Data Alliances, Informatica
	Moderator: Maryfran Johnson, Executive Director of CIO Programs, CIO Events and the CIO Executive Council
	Technology leaders who want to make data-driven digital transformation a success must have a strategic ecosystem of partner relationships and a holistic view across all aspects of their business systems, data and processes. In this fireside discussion with IDG's Maryfran Johnson, Informatica's Rik Tamm-Daniels and Microsoft's John Macintyre will share their expertise in managing cloud complexity, integrating big data to accelerate advanced analytics and explain how a modern data architecture enables IT leaders to drive transformative change and innovation. They will talk about how data is the foundation for all enterprise transformations and how the public cloud is fast becoming a strategic tool for using IT to intelligently disrupt markets, create new revenue streams and move with greater speed and agility than ever before.
2:50 pm - 3:20 pm	CIO Publisher's Panel: Balancing Business Innovation with Operational Excellence
	Phil Alberta, CIO, IPM
	Sumita Gorla, Systems Engineer, Illumio
	Matt Hagovsky, Head of Systems Engineering, Eastern Region, Veritas Technologies
	Scott Lowe, Tech Evangelist, Heptio
	Moderator: Adam Dennison, Publisher, CIO; SVP/General Manager, IDG Events
	While a rising number of business leaders see CIOs as strategic advisors, 73% of CIOs are struggling to strike the right balance between business innovation and operational excellence in today's fast-evolving digital business ecosystem. That is where technology providers can lean in and help out, says CIO Publisher Adam Dennison. In this lively, informative discussion, Adam will share key findings from our 2018 State of the CIO research on what's trending in cybersecurity and risk management, IT-business collaboration, tech spending and customer centricity as he engages his industry expert panelists on their best practices with enterprise customers. The panel will delve into the challenges their products and services are targeting, citing specific customer examples and offering fresh perspectives from their work with IT leaders across multiple industries.
	View Presentation
3:20 pm - 3:45 pm	Refreshment & Networking Break
3:45 pm - 4:45 pm	CIO-CSO Panel: Building a Cyber Security "Shock Absorber" for the Enterprise
	Don Aliberti, IT Security Head / CISO, Nomura Holdings America
	Ben Cabrera, VP and CIO, Covanta
	Mignona Cote, Global Head of Identity and Access Management, AIG
	Rob Juncker, Senior Vice President, Research and Development, Code42

Moderator: Maryfran Johnson, Executive Director of CIO Programs, CIO Events and the CIO Executive Council

Day-in-day-out security is a core competency that businesses of all sizes today must master. Those basics of blocking and tackling -- including responding to the daily assault of PII data breaches – are now table stakes in a larger game being redefined by regulatory requirements like GDPR privacy compliance, shared risks within your digital business ecosystem and encroachments by adversarial nation-states. But beyond that, businesses in 2018 need to focus on building resiliency into their operations -- the kind of resiliency that allows an enterprise to take a hit and bounce back. Those business disruptions that can shut you down for weeks pose the greatest dangers to your company's future. In this candid and practical session, we'll hear from CIOs and CISOs about how they stay on top of the "table stakes" while at the same time building-in the right shock absorbers to keep the business moving forward.

4:45 pm - 5:00 pm	Closing Remarks
	Moderator: Maryfran Johnson, Executive Director of CIO Programs, CIO Events and the CIO Executive Council
5:00 pm - 5:30 pm	Cocktail Reception