Kadriorg Park and KUMU Art Museum (3h)

Group minimum size: 15

The creation of Kadriorg park was started by the Russian Tsar Peter I where baroque style palace was built in the early 18th century as a present for his wife Catherine I. It was once called the Versailles of Tallinn due to its marvellous baroque style, with geometrically planted and cut trees and flower beds. The palace today houses the Foreign Art Museum.

Little walk further will take us to The KUMU Art Museum. It houses a permanent exhibition of classics of Estonian Art from the beginning of the 18th century until Re-Independence and other special exhibitions. It's a modern multifunctional art building, which contains exhibition halls, a lecture hall offering diverse facilities, and an educational centre for young visitors and for art lovers.

In 2008 KUMU was rewarded as European Museum of the Year.

The tour price includes entrance fee, transportation and English speaking guide services.

Interrogation In Soviet Prison

Group minimum size: 15 person/ max group size 22

This incentive tour will take you back in time. Soviet militia arrests your suspicious visitors in the hotel lobby. He lines them up and takes them away for interrogation in an old Soviet prison. In an authentic Soviet bus, the group is driven to a 4-hectare prison complex next to Tallinn Bay, just 10 minutes from the city centre. The suspicious visitors go through a medical examination and a photo - and fingerprint session. The participants learn more about the lifestyle of a Soviet prisoner. The guilty tourists are then put into a cell and need to redeem themselves by answering tricky questions, doing a treasure hunt or bribing greedy Soviet bureaucrats with valuable Marlboro cigarettes.

Finally Soviet patriotism breaks down and Soviets change their tone of voice. On the way back, the militia will sing a few Soviet songs and offer lots of Soviet vodka. Viva Friendship!

Price includes soviet bus, 2 actors, rent of prison, props for interrogation and entertainment, vodka and pickles.
