

Pascal Cools

DC Flanders & DC Network

Pascal has a degree in Law and in International Relations. He started working at Andersen Consulting, later Accenture. There he worked on strategic and change management projects for governments and multinationals like Coca Cola, Dow, and EDF-Electrabel. After eight years at Accenture, he left the firm in 2005 to help start up Flanders District of Creativity. This non-profit organization aims at making entrepreneurial Flanders more creative and creative Flanders more entrepreneurial. Since 2007, Pascal is managing director of Flanders DC.
