

Eric Cooper

Eric is a regular commentator for the Huffington Post, host of NCEMC blog talk radio, and recipient of the 2008 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. award from Israel for social justice leadership. He received a MacArthur Foundation grant to produce a PBS documentary series. Prior to founding the National Urban Alliance he was a special education teacher and held various positions in a residential treatment center, Boston Public Schools, and the College Board. He holds two master's degrees and a doctorate in interdisciplinary studies, all from Teachers College, Columbia University.