A1 Sacramental Ministry: From a Consumer-Provider Model to a Families-at-the-Center Model

Msgr. Jerome Duesman, Butch and Linda Moses

Do we recognize parents as the first and foremost evangelizers and catechizers of their children? Integral involvement in formation is their right and responsibility. One of the most significant findings in the National Study on Youth and Religion is the impact of parental faith and religiosity on the beliefs and practices of young people. Join us as we explore ways to partner with parents and to empower them to more fully assume the role of forming their children.

~ Repeated in session D2 ~

A4 The Word of the Lord: Finding Meaning in the Liturgical Use of Scripture Today

Gene Giuliano

"The rule of prayer is the rule of belief," a long-standing saying in the Church, affirms that the celebration of liturgy proclaims and supports our Christian belief. The question becomes how is the Bible to be interpreted in the liturgy today? Does scripture's meaning change according to the context of worship in the contemporary world? How can those who hear the word of God proclaimed responsibly interpret and apply its meaning in the 21st century? This session probes the dynamic relationship between the word and liturgy from the perspective of the worshiper.

This workshop will review national trends in church engagement and discuss concrete steps parish leaders can take to create vibrant parish communities.

~ Repeated in Session C3 ~

A6 E-Roadmap: Technology in the Parish

Frank Santoni

Technology is a tremendous asset as our congregations continue to grow, but we have to be enculturated, learning how to think, live and embrace life on the digital continent. How can new social media tools and church management tools be used by the parish? What software makes it easier to schedule volunteers for various ministries and formation classes? How can we make parish websites easier? This session provides suggestions for trusted resources and preferred sites.

~ Repite en G5 Sesión, Español ~

We will explore the dynamics of the clergy who receive the graces of Pentecost in an unbroken line from the Apostles. We will learn about roadblocks that strain these relationships and how to build up communication with the staff that will build up the people of God.

Officer Frank Bradford

In this session we will discuss crimes that are perpetrated on faith-based organizations and what leadership and parishioners can do to prevent crime from invading their place of worship. ~ Repeated in Session D10 ~

A10 Preaching the Roman Missal: An Alternative to the Lectionary

Rev. Richard Fragemoni

The Roman Missal, Third Edition, provides us with a unique opportunity to help our communities engage in and deepen their prayer life during the celebration of the Mass. This new translation is full of new images and allusions to scriptures that are rich and powerful. This session will look at ways to preach on the texts of the new translation and engage in mystagogical preaching that will draw our people deeper into the Paschal Mystery.

Workshop Session B, Wednesday, 3:15 PM

B1 Called, Gifted, Certified: Co-Workers in the Vineyard

Jean Marie Weber

By virtue of their baptism, all the faithful are called to use their gifts for building up the Body of Christ. Recent USCCB documents, such as Called and Gifted for the Third Millennium and Co-Workers in the Vineyard of the Lord, affirm this vital role of the laity, and Co-Workers proposes the need for certification. Current standards help guide the process of preparation and certification for a variety of ministries. Come and join in as we explore the context, benefits and challenges for the laity today as we pursue certification. Let us keep our oil lamps burning and keep the flame alive!

~ Repeated in Session C1 ~

B2 Chant: Ever Ancient, Ever New

Rev. Columba Kelly, OSB

Chant, recognized by our Church as the unifying bond of the multitude of people, gathers the faithful in a single voice. It is a beautiful form of praise and prayer within Sacred Liturgy. How do we connect the ancient to the present and how do we move forward in pleasing harmony?

~ Repeated in Session C5 ~

B3 Nurturing our Ministers

Msgr. Ray East

Baptism calls all of us to ministry, to be light brightening a sometimes darkened world. How are we nourishing ourselves so that we may be poured out for others, yet setting our boundaries and recognizing our limitations?

B4 Amazing Grace in a Culture of Violence

Sr. Helen Prejean, CSJ

~ Repeat of Session A2 ~

B5 The Changing Face of Church

Dr. Marti Jewell

We will look at the paradigm shift that is taking place in Catholic parish structures of today, reflecting a hopeful view for implementing new and effective ways of leading our parishes forward into a bright future.

~ Repeated in Session E2 ~

B6 Vatican II: In an Ever Changing Society

Sr. Maureen Sullivan, OP

Pope John XXIII hoped that the second Vatican council would be a “new Pentecost” in the life of the church. How do we continue this work of the Holy Spirit? How did Vatican II set the tone for the last 50 years and offer us a model of Church for the 21st century? Do the influences from this historic time still resonate, and how might we keep that flame alive in our various ministries today? This presentation will address these questions surrounding the 50th anniversary of the opening of the council.

~ Repeated in Session D5 ~

B7 Look Afresh At What We Do: Ars Celebrandi

Paul Inwood

Ritual is both repetition and renewal. Sometimes the repetition part of it can blunt our senses and prevent us from seeing how we are actually doing things when we celebrate liturgy, and how we can do them better. This workshop will take a closer look at Ars Celebrandi, putting some of our ritual actions under the microscope and offering practical suggestions, for renewing, refreshing, and reinvigorating our liturgical practice.

B8 Essential, Not Extra: The Role of Liturgical Music

Tony Alonso

For nearly 50 years, Roman Catholics have labored toward the full, conscious and active participation of the liturgical assembly in the church’s song. We’ve come a long way, but have “miles to go before we sleep.” Join us as we re-engage the critical questions of musical liturgy in ways that offer challenge and encouragement to people of all levels of experience.

B9 Keeping The Day Holy

Deacon John Paul Kelly

We will explore the many church prayer experiences available for gathering, nourishing the spirit, and keeping the flame alive, even in the absence of a priest. How does one instill trust that the Lord is really present when the community gathers and His word is proclaimed and preached? We will offer suggestions to kindle the vitality of faith and the strength of parish life.

~ Repeated in Session E10 ~

B10 A Spirituality for Preaching: Translating Words into Life

Rev. Richard Fragemoni

In his recent Apostolic Exhortation Verbum Domini Benedict XVI calls for the homily to be “a means of bringing the scriptural message to life in a way that helps the faithful to realize that God’s word is present and at work in their everyday lives. It should lead to an understanding of the mystery being celebrated, serve as a summons to mission, and prepare the assembly for the profession of faith, the universal prayer and the Eucharistic liturgy.” This session will look at strategies to bring the Lectionary to life and to stir the fire of the Holy Spirit in the life of the believer.

Few of us know how to heal from grief and we may question our faith because of life experiences such as divorce, illness, death, separation of family, financial strain, moving, and loss of employment. How long does grief take to heal? How do we move from the darkness through the pain and into the light?

≈ Repeated in Session F7 ≈

In addition, we will think about ways of involving children in genuine liturgical ministry and will also look at some of the music available for Liturgy of the Word with children.

D7 Make a difference, Be the difference

Steve Angrisano

How do we help youth find their connection with liturgy and full participation in Eucharistic? It begins by enabling them to become an active part of our communities. It also requires us to reflect that presence in liturgy through music, symbol, and hospitality. Learn basic ideas and principles of creating sacred space where our youth can be welcomed into the larger parish community as co-heirs in the Body of Christ.

≈ Repeated in Session E5 ≈

D9 Connecting The Disconnected

ValLimar Jansen

Some of us may have wandered away from the raging fire, but the embers of the Holy Spirit still glow within each baptized Catholic Christian, for we receive the gift of the Holy Spirit at our baptism! Our call to discipleship demands that we recognize that each member of the Body of Christ is of the utmost importance—whether or not it culminates in regular attendance at Mass. This session will explore the many ways we, as disciples of Christ, can help connect those who have completely disconnected and how better to engage those who come regularly out of obligation and not out of a sincere passion to experience “The Body of Christ.”

D10 Tending the flame through Vigilance and Visibility

We are walking a journey of faith together, as we grow in our knowledge of God and desire to become more and more like Christ. Jesus is always drawing near to us and walking with us, as we walk with one another. This session will focus on how we can turn up the fire in our walk of faith and how to increase our passion, as we answer God's call to discipleship! E4 Reflection of Our Lives: Expressions in the Liturgy

Peter Kolar

It's easier said than done: true multicultural liturgy should do more than display various languages. In order for our multicultural celebrations to be truly welcoming to a diverse assembly, vibrant intercultural dialogue is needed before stepping foot in the sanctuary. What are we doing to promote a healthy intercultural parish life? The unity we strive for should culminate in our liturgies, not take its first trial run in them. Before we select even one song to use, we must first change our hearts and minds!

E7 Sharing the Parish Meal

Deacon Charlie Stump

Suffering and illness have always been among the conditions that trouble the human spirit. Because we cannot all gather at the community feast, we connect the sick through the sacrament of love and the sign of unity. They become united sacramentally to the Lord and re-united with the Eucharistic Community from which illness and circumstances have separated them. How does the Church invite us to serve and what are the responsibilities and challenges of ministers of care?

E8 Mystagogy: Embracing the Mystery of God

Sr. Guadalupe Ramírez, MCDP

How do we keep the baptismal fire alive beyond Pentecost? How do we recognize an encounter with the living God and explore the meanings of our continuing experience of mystery?
