

Case Statement for Volunteer Engagement

JFFixler Group

Case statements communicate the rationale, need, focus, and vision of what will be different as a result of an initiative. A statement ensures consistency in promoting an initiative and helps to garner support.

Background (how or why the initiative is being developed)

Connection (to mission and vision)

Stakeholders (who is involved in, supporting, and/or benefitting from the initiative)

Examples (of existing exemplary programs and services within the organization)
