

The Executive Dinner Forum in partnership with WIPRO

The Future-Ready Organisation

Preparing for the big data deluge & tomorrow's new era workforce

STEIGENBERGER GRANDHOTEL DAVOS BELVÉDÈRE, SWITZERLAND | Tuesday, 22nd January, 2013

22/01/2013

20:00 - 20:30

Registration and Champagne Reception

20:30 - 20:55

Networking Buffet Dinner

20:55 - 21:00

Chair's welcome and introduction

Gillian Tett, Markets and Finance Commentator & an Assistant Editor of the Financial Times, Financial Times

21:00 - 21:50

Panel debate

T K Kurien, CEO, IT Business & Executive Director, Wipro Limited

Dick Olver, Chairman, BAE Systems

Sir Martin Sorrell, Chief Executive, WPP

Discussion topics to include:

- Can big data really provide compelling answers about the future?
- Is there too much data and too little intelligence?
- How do you extract the competitive value hidden in the data you've gathered?
- How much does it cost, and how risky is it?
- Do people just get in the way of the data, or do people need to get in the way of the data?
- What are the workforce innovations driving organisations forwards?
- What can companies do to win the future talent war?
- New era employees are bringing with them a new set of expectations to the workplace. How - and should? - these expectations be accommodated?

- How are shifting global workforce demographics impacting on business?

21:50 - 22:00

Closing remarks

Gillian Tett, Markets and Finance Commentator & an Assistant Editor of the Financial Times, Financial Times