

Duke Energy's Supply Chain Support of the Ash Basin Work Activity

Joe Frondorf

Manager, Ash Basin Sourcing Group
Duke Energy
704-382-9459
Joseph.frondorf@duke-energy.com

Biography

Joe Frondorf is Managing Duke Energy's Ash Basin Sourcing Group. In this role, Joe has responsibility for developing sourcing strategies that will enable Duke Energy to comply with the North Carolina Coal Ash Management Act as well as the United States Environmental Protection Agency's Coal Combustion Residual Rule for the lowest possible cost and to minimize its commercial risk.

Joe has been with Duke Energy for 13 years and has previously supported Duke Energy's environmental projects, the Citrus County Combined Cycle Project, and the Fossil/Hydro Craft Labor Group.

Joe has a degree in Economics from Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois. Joe also has earned his lifetime Certified Purchasing Manager (C.P.M.) and Certified Professional in Supply Management (CPSM) from Institute for Supply Management.

Abstract – Duke Energy's Supply Chain Support of the Ash Basin Work Activity

This presentation will focus on how Duke Energy's Supply Chain has evolved in supporting the ash basin work activity since 2014. Items that will be covered include:

- Brief history of ash management
- Brief overview of the current regulatory requirements
- Evolution of the work activity
- Initial Supply Chain Support
- Creation of a new Sourcing Group – the Ash Basin Sourcing Group
- Initial work activity of the Ash Basin Sourcing Group
- Creation of a Staffing Plan
- Creation of a Mission, Vision, Achievement Statement, and Team Attributes
- Creation of a Standard Process

- Review how Vendors/Contractors have been engaged as well as Contracting Approaches
- Overview of the Ash Basin Sourcing Group's Accomplishments