

EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL MINDEDNESS (CONTINUUM WORKSHOP) C3 18-20 NOVEMBER 2015

This workshop will explore international education that goes beyond food, flags, films and festivals. The IB learner profile describes the goal of "creating internationally minded people", but what does that mean? How can schools develop an internationally minded educational philosophy that addresses IB standards and practices?

How can educators help students inquire, act and reflect in meaningful and relevant ways in an increasingly interconnected world?

Participants will build understandings together and share good practice to promote intercultural understanding, the importance of multilingualism and global engagement.

Registration fee: 870 EUR
Stay on for the Conference for 150 EUR

Course Facilitator: Darlene FISHER

Darlene Fisher is Chief Learning Officer at ECIS. She has started her career in education in Melbourne, Australia as a History teacher, and became an examiner for the Victorian State system, moving into the International Baccalaureate and becoming a History Examiner, Team Leader and Extended Essay marker when working at ABA in Oman.

In school, Darlene progressed from Head of Department to Housemaster (Melbourne Grammar-Australia), to Dean of Students (Prem Tinsulanonda Int.School-Thailand) to Head of High School (EMWS- Mumbai), and finally Director at Enka Schools Istanbul.

All of these positions have allowed Darlene to work with her passion of empowering those around her to believe in themselves and reach for their best in their teaching and learning.
