

NATO Communications and Information Agency
Agence OTAN d'information et de communication

Preparing for the Next Operation Education and Training in the Information Age

Mr David Burton
Chief Education and Training Service Line

Key Messages

- NNEC is not just about technology - fundamentally also about People.
- Post ISAF, attention will turn to preparing for next conflict – this means training.
- NCI Agency lead for CIS and Functional Area Services training for NATO.
- Large scale investment planned: through capability acquisitions and training infrastructure.
- Industry need to be aware of increased priority and growth in training.

Education and Training Opportunities – Alignment with NATO's Strategic Objectives

- Smart Defence
- Connecting Forces Initiative
- Joint Intelligence Surveillance and Reconnaissance
- Cyber Security

Today's Speakers

Mr Kevin Brown - IBM:
Strategic Developments in the world of Learning

Mr Piotr Pluta – CISCO:
Partnering with Industry

Cdr R Fear – NCI Agency:
NATO developments and opportunities

IBM Presentation

CISCO Presentation

NATO Communications and Information Agency
Agence OTAN d'information et de communication

Preparing for the Next Operation Education and Training in the Information Age

'NATO Developments and Opportunities'

Cdr Richard Fear (GBR N)

The Challenge!

- Complex environment!
- Expanding portfolio of Functional Area Services.
- Information Management (IM) in the Battle-space.
- Managing the Cyber domain.
- Exploiting the Nation's investment in NATO C4ISR capability.
- Preparing the individual for his/her team role.

NATO CIS School Transition x 2

From Latina to Lisbon

School house to Federated Academy

A Federated NATO Academy

- Exploit Training Technology – Embrace the ‘Cloud’.
- Blend the classroom with remote and distance learning.
- Distributed Training – ‘where required when required’.
- Mobile Training – take classroom to the war fighter.
- Join up individual, with team and collective training.
- Partnerships – nations, industry and academia.
- Smarter Training for Smarter Defence.

NATO Education & Training

The 'So What' for Industry?

- Greater emphasis on training proposals in future bids.
- New investment in training technology - update for NCISS.
- Exploitation of innovative solutions.

- Partnering with industry for training development and delivery.
- Leveraging NATO training solutions into Alliance and Partner Nations (Smart).

NATO Communications and Information Agency
Agence OTAN d'information et de communication

Summary and Panel Discussion

Mr David Burton

SPECIAL OFFERS

- * Banana 6
- * Peppers 3
- * Strawberries

OPEN