

Clay Bird is an honors graduate from the University of Oklahoma with a B.A. in Letters. He was a Tulsa City Councilor from 2000-2002 and left the Council to serve in Mayor Bill LaFortune's Office as Chief Officer of Policy Development and later as Chief of Staff and Deputy Mayor. He is currently the Executive Director of the Tulsa Industrial Authority. As one of Mayor Bartlett's unclassified staff, Clay has filled several different roles and is currently the Director of Economic Development.