2014 INS Fall National Academy of Infusion Therapy and One-Day Program

A weekend ripe with opportunity

Make your plans to join us in Atlanta November 14-16 for a weekend that's sure to be as sweet as a Georgia peach.

For more than 40 years, INS national meetings have provided infusion nurses and many other medical professionals with the most comprehensive educational experience in the field. This fall, the 2014 INS Fall National Academy and One-Day Program in Atlanta will be no exception. When you join us in Atlanta, you'll gain knowledge from the freshest educational sessions, visit an exhibit hall bursting with the latest advances, and enjoy a little southern hospitality with nurse colleagues from all over the country. Taking place over one packed weekend, it won't take a bite out of your busy work schedule.

Overall Program Goal

The Fall National Academy of Infusion Therapy and One-Day Program provides attendees with quality educational sessions that contribute to the achievement of professional educational goals and continued competency in the infusion therapy specialty.

Overall Program Objective

At the conclusion of the program, attendees will have received information that contributes to best practice as it relates to the care of the patient receiving infusion therapy.

Target Audience

This three-day event is directed toward nurses, CRNI[®]s, and licensed health care professionals involved in the practice of infusion therapy for any patient population.

Accreditations

The Infusion Nurses Society is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's (ANCC) Commission on Accreditation (COA).

Accreditation status does not imply endorsement by INS or ANCC of any commercial products discussed or displayed in conjunction with this activity.

SHARING EXPERTISE

The complex and passionate profession that is nursing has shown resilience through centuries of change. The current health care environment offers more challenges than ever before, especially for nurses in the specialty of infusion nursing. The intense focus on mandated outcomes in the face of limited resources, the aging nursing workforce, health care reform legislation, and evolving alternative health care delivery systems are notable examples. Successfully navigating this terrain will require a shift from our past introspection to embracing change and innovation in uncertain times.
