

Thomas Barefoot Law Office
Lead Counsel, Ashley II of Charleston v PSC Nitrogen
Washington, D.C.

Currently, Mr. Barefoot's environmental law practice is based in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan area. He is a committed environmentalist who is passionate about restoring contaminated properties back to productive use. His practice focuses on environmental litigation; most recently on Superfund cost recovery actions. He is currently serving as lead environmental counsel in the case of Ashley II of Charleston, LLC v PCS Nitrogen, one of the first cases to be tried nationally involving the interpretation of the 2002 Brownfields Amendments. Mr. Barefoot also has served as counsel to parties in transactions involving the transfer of contaminated properties. His thirty years of experience includes ground water contamination actions, leaking underground storage tanks cases and toxic tort litigation. Mr. Barefoot is licensed in both North Carolina and Maryland. He can be reached at thomas@barefootlaw.com.
