

Faraz Abbasi is Senior Partner at Centerfield Capital Partners, responsible for investor relations, sourcing investment opportunities, overseeing due diligence, structuring and negotiating transactions and portfolio management. Prior to joining Centerfield, Faraz held sales and product development roles at Praxair and Rodel, where he was the lead researcher and developer of next generation consumables for the microelectronics industry and was awarded a patent. Faraz has been recognized as one of the “Forty under Forty” young leaders in Indianapolis, “Who’s Who in Finance” by the Indiana Business Journal and was the winner of Junior Achievement’s “Indy’s Best and Brightest” award.

Education

- B.S., Chemical Engineering, University of Texas
- MBA, Finance, Kelley School of Business, Indiana University

Board Affiliations

Faraz serves as a Director of Battery Solutions, Beacon Communications (Chairman), Direct Marketing Solutions (Chairman) and TCI

Community & Other Activities

- Fairbanks Hospital, Chairman, Board of Directors
- Small Business Investors Alliance, Treasurer, and Member, Board of Governors
- Young Presidents Organization, Learning Officer, Deal Network
- Kelley School of Business, Indiana University, Member Dean’s Council and Adjunct Professor of Private Equity and Venture Capital
- Venture Club of Indiana, past President