Todd Katz

Executive Vice President
U.S. Business
Group Benefits

Todd B. Katz is the Executive Vice President for MetLife's $15 billion U.S. Group Benefits business, which serves over 50,000 group insurance customers—covering more than 40 million employees and their families—and includes 92 of the top 100 Fortune 500[®] companies and over 80% of the Fortune 500[®] companies.

Prior to his current role, Katz led MetLife's U.S. Insurance Products organization where he was responsible for product manufacturing, underwriting, claims, and administration for MetLife's Group Benefits business as well as its Individual Life business. Before this, he held general management roles running the company's Group Dental and Group Disability businesses.

Katz started with MetLife in 1989 as a Group Sales Trainee, and over the span of ten years held various positions of increasing responsibility at MetLife in the Group Sales organization, including five years as a top producing account executive in the New York City group insurance market.

Katz serves on the Board of Directors of MetLife's Property and Casualty business. He has held prior Board roles including MetLife Japan, New England Financial, Chairman of the Board of SafeGuard Health Enterprises, and Chairman of the Board of Hyatt Legal Plans.

Katz holds a B.A. degree in Economics from Brandeis University.
