Background

---

What is taxable payments reporting for government entities

From 1 July 2017:

- > Federal, state, territory and local government entities will need to report the total payments they make to businesses wholly or partly for services each year.
- > Federal, state and territory government entities will also need to report grants they make to people or organisations with an ABN. Local government entities are not required to report grants they pay.

What the system aims to address

The system aims to address the following issues:

- > Non-lodgment of tax returns
- > Not including all income in lodged tax returns
- > GST compliance

We will also provide the information that is reported to businesses in our pre-filling service to help them get their tax returns right.

How taxable payments reporting works

Who needs to report?

A broad range of government entities will be required to report, including:

- > federal government departments, agencies and authorities
- > state and territory government departments and agencies
- > local government entities
- > government-owned corporations.

Who won't need to report?

Some government entities won't need to report. These include:

- > schools, universities and TAFES
- > child care centres
- > hospitals
- > public museums, libraries or art galleries

- > For a full list go to ato.gov.au/tparGov

What needs to be reported - payments

- > The total payments made to each supplier wholly or partly for services.
- > If the payment includes both goods and services:
  - Report the whole amount.
  - Don't separate amounts, even if they're itemised separately.

What needs to be reported - grants

- > Grants paid to people or organisations with an ABN.
- > The term 'grant' takes its ordinary meaning and can include subsidies, rebates, sponsorships and similar arrangements.
- > You can also refer to your jurisdiction's financial management guidance on what payments are considered to be grants.

- > Only federal, state and territory government entities need to report grants.
Local government bodies do not.

What doesn't need to be reported

You don't need to report:

- > Payments for goods only
- > unpaid invoices as at 30 June each year – these should be reported in the annual report for the year in which they're actually paid
- > PAYG withholding payments – these are reported in the relevant PAYG withholding annual report (for example: PAYG payment summary annual report, for payments to employees).

Payments specifically excluded from reporting

There are some types of payments that are specifically excluded from reporting including payments:

- > made to other government entities
- > made by some electronic methods
  - Can include; BPAY, recurring direct debit, credit or debit card payments
- > for telephone and internet services
- > for rent
- > for bank fees and financial supplies

- > For more, see ato.gov.au/tparGov

Grants that don't need to be reported

Grants that don't need to be reported include those paid to:

- > individuals who don't have an ABN
- > other government entities.

Remember, local governing bodies aren't required to report grants.

The annual report

The information must be reported in the Taxable payments annual report.

- > The report contains three sections:
  - Sender, includes details about the report and the sender of the data
  - Payer, includes details of the entity that made the payment or paid the grant
  - Payee, includes details about the recipient and the amounts paid
- > Payments and grants are to be reported separately.

Payee details to report

For each payee, you should report the following identity information:

- > ABN
- > Name and address
- > Other information, such as:
  - Bank account details
  - Phone number
  - Email address
  - Statement by a supplier indicator (where applicable)

Payee details to report

For each payee, report :

- > Total gross amount paid for the year
- > Total GST included in gross amount paid
- > Payment type – P for payments, G for grants

Additionally for grants,

- > Name of grant program
- > Date of payment

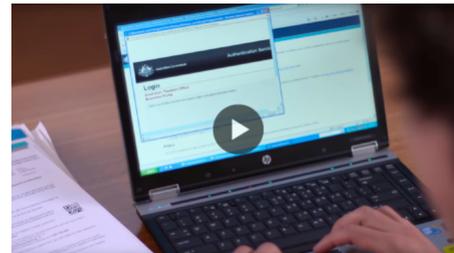

Note: where a payee receives a grant under more than one grant program, they need to be reported separately

When and how to report

- > The Taxable payments annual report is due by 28 August each year. The first annual report for the 2017-18 financial year is due by 28 August 2018.
- > Reports need to be submitted electronically in a format that meets our specifications.
- > Download the specifications at softwaredevelopers.atg.gov.au/tparGov

How to lodge

- > The Taxable payments annual report can be lodged by uploading a file on ATO portals.
- > Watch our video 'How to lodge your Taxable payments annual report online' at ato.gov.au/tpr

Avoiding common mistakes

How to avoid common mistakes

- > Ensure that you provide the correct name and ABN of the payer.
- > Check the details of your payees - When you receive an invoice, check the ABN on the invoice matches the ABN on your records for that business and create a new vendor record, if necessary.
- > It's a good idea to check their ABN using the ABN Lookup at abr.business.gov.au or using the ATO App.

Frequently asked questions

Question

Do government entities need to report payments they make on behalf of other entities exempted from reporting?

Yes. Some payments made in connection with an exempted government entity may still be reported where a government entity that's required to report makes the payment.

For example, where a Department of Education makes a payment to a contractor for services provided to a school, the Department of Education will need to report this payment.

Question

Do government entities need to provide payees with the details that have been reported to the ATO?

No. There is no requirement to provide recipients of grants or payments with any details of the information reported, but government entities can choose to provide them with the details should they wish.

Question

Do grants paid to non-profit organisations need to be reported?

Yes, if the non-profit organisation has an ABN, it must be reported.
