Baileys and Partners is an independent chartered surveying practice with notable experience in the renewable energy sector. Ed Bailey leads the team, which is based in the Snowdonia National Park. Baileys and Partners provide energy services in relation to all energy matters with Ed having considerable experience in hydroelectric schemes, working for private landowners, developers, charitable organisations and community groups across the UK. Baileys and Partners is a Company member of the BHA and has experience in lobbying both Welsh Assembly Government (WAG) and Natural Resources Wales (NRW) in representing the interests of the Welsh Hydropower industry and farming fraternity. Baileys and Partners and Colliers advised WAG on the valuation methods for the calculation of Non-Domestic Rates in Wales and options for intervention by WAG.

Community Energy England (CEE) is a not for profit organisation that represents and supports those committed to the community energy sector. Its mission is to support and accelerate the transition to a fair, low carbon and community-led energy system. CEE was established by the sector to provide a voice for community energy and to help ensure that people are put at the heart of the energy system by creating the conditions within which it can flourish. We do this by working to increase the profile of community energy, building capacity within the sector, and by advocating for supportive policies at national and local levels.

Community Energy Wales is the collective power of community groups and not for profit organisations working together to build a better energy future for Wales. CEW was established in 2012 and now has over 60 members throughout Wales. We work with our members to promote the growth of community owned renewable energy and heat. We champion, support and deliver projects that can reduce carbon emissions and address fuel poverty. CEW supports this by inspiring, empowering, and influencing people, policies and practices across Wales, bringing together a network of practitioners who work with and within the communities of Wales.
