

The Royal Australasian
College of Physicians

SUPERVISOR TRAINING

Workplace-based Learning and Assessment

The Royal Australasian College of Physicians is running a supervisor training workshop, Workplace-based Learning and Assessment, as part of the Supervisor Professional Development Program (SPDP). This is the third of three supervisor workshops.

We encourage anyone who is currently serving as a supervisor, new supervisors and those who have not previously attended a supervisor workshop to attend. Attendance can be counted towards your MyCPD program.

- Why: The session will be 3 hours in length and will cover the following topics:
- Discuss the purpose and importance of work-based learning and assessment
  - Analyse the cycle of planning for learning and assessment
  - Identify the challenges and solutions associated with work-based assessment in a complex environment
  - Evaluate overall performance and progress to make a summative assessment.

When: Wednesday 2 March 2016

Time: 2.00 – 5.00 PM

Where: IMSANZ, Blenheim Convention Centre

Workshop facilitators: Dr's Matthew Farrant & Paul Dawkins

How: Register your interest by emailing
tamzyn.luafalealo@racp.org.nz by 19/02/16

For more information visit www.racp.edu.au

Supervisor@RACP