

Bernhard Eschermann
Head of Technology
Process Automation Division
ABB Group

Bernhard Eschermann joined ABB in 1993 and is currently Head of Technology for ABB's global Process Automation Division in Zurich, Switzerland. Prior to this role, he held numerous senior positions at ABB, including Head of Research and Development (R&D) for protection and substation automation, head of R&D for power electronics systems, Head of the Corporate Research Center in Switzerland, and General Manager for ABB's power semiconductor business.

Bernhard holds a Doctorate in Computer Science from the University of Karlsruhe in Germany, a Master of Science in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science from the University of California in Berkeley, and a Bachelor of Engineering degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Karlsruhe in Germany.

Company Profile

ABB (www.abb.com) is a leader in power and automation technologies that enable utility and industry customers to improve their performance while lowering environmental impact. The ABB Group of companies operates in around 100 countries and employs about 150,000 people.