STOP CHILD ABUSE - TRACE AN OBJECT

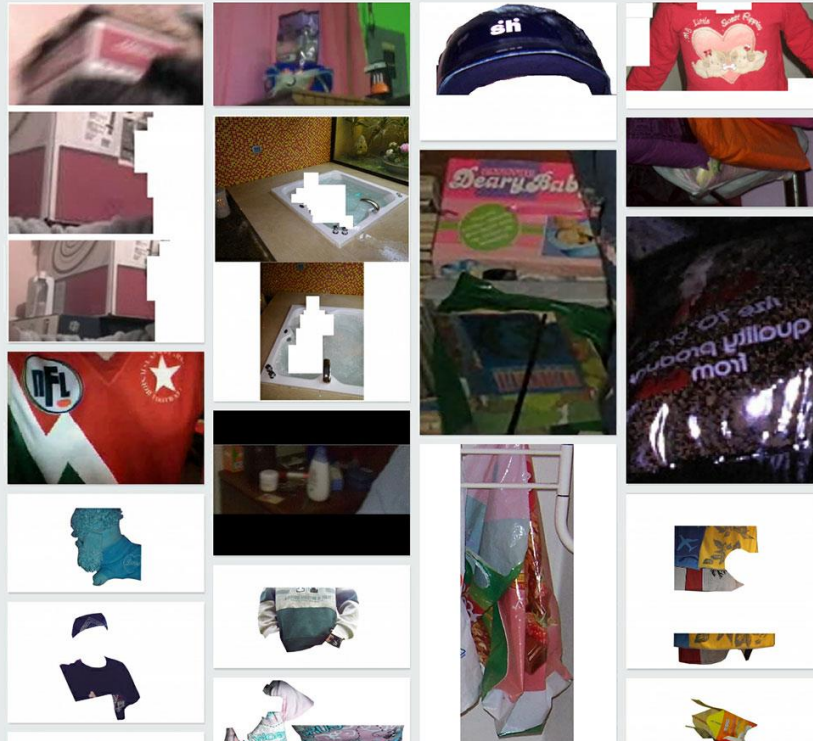

You can help us to trace an object and stop child abuse

THIS MULTIMEDIA IS ABOUT
CHILD SEXUAL EXPLOITATION
View all crime areas

The most innocent clues can sometimes help crack a case. The objects are all taken from the background of an image with sexually explicit material involving minors. For all images below, every other investigative avenue has already been examined. Therefore we are requesting your assistance in identifying the origin of some of these objects. We are convinced that more eyes will lead to more leads and will ultimately help to save these children.

Can you help us recognise the objects? We specifically want to trace their origin (location/country). You can help by clicking on an object you recognise and providing Europol with the information you have on the object. This can be done anonymously. Once the origin of an object is identified, we will inform the competent law enforcement authority of the involved country to further investigate this lead and hopefully speed up the identification of both the offender and the victim.

Europol most wanted fugitive Jaakko Ilari Nurminen captured in Paris

Europol states that one of the most sought after criminals from Finland has been arrested. The suspect was caught in Paris, thanks to the EU Most Wanted website providing a tip.

After receiving the tip, the arrest was done in cooperation with authorities from France and Finland. Together with the Finnish Police the French National Police proceeded with the arrest on the first week of February 2018.

Currently the name of the suspect has not been revealed by the authorities, but it is stated that the fugitive was wanted for fraud and forgery. This lines up with the Finnish fugitive Jaakko Ilari Nurminen, featured in the Europol holiday card campaign in August 2017.

Nurminen is accused of Fraud, including affecting the financial interests of the European Communities. This is based on the Convention of July 1995 that stipulates the protection of member states in the union of countries.

The authorities laud this as an example of how the general public can provide help to authorities to catch wanted fugitives. Since the launch of the EU Most Wanted website in 2016, the campaign has yielded 44 fugitives that have been captured. At least 16 of them have been a result of tips from the public.
