

Mary Kemp is currently the Brownfields Section Chief for the U.S. EPA in Region 6. Her previous positions at the Environmental Protection Agency include Section Chief, Air Quality Analysis Section; Homeland Security Coordinator and Continuity Planner. She graduated from Henderson State University with a Bachelors of Science in Chemistry and Physics and has a Master's Degree in Meteorology from Texas A&M